Teachers Say 'No' to Kids

by Dave Atkins

At the annual fall meeting of the Romulus teachers and the Wayne County Education Association, it was decided that our teachers will immediately resign from their involvement in all extra-curricular activities. The positions affected by this decision include those of class sponsors, year-book advisors, and various department heads, as well as committee memberships on some school district projects.

One of the first things of major importance to be affected by this move will be the annual Homecoming festivities, which were scheduled for the first week of October. Also in jeopardy will be events like dances at the secondary-school level, and parties at the elementary schools.

It is believed that the teachers are taking this action in order to get the full attention of the Romulus School Board and Superintendent Dr. William Bedell, as well as the parents of the Romulus school district. Apparently, since they were unable to get what they wanted from the School Board, the teachers feel that retaliation against the students, through their activities, may convince parents to pressure the School Board into giving them their way.

The main problem between Union and School Board stemmed from the amount of wage increase offered to the teachers by the Board. Dr. Bedell had stated, before the end of the school year, that he had a seven-percent in-

Why You Should Vote September 12

by Dave Atkins

It is our right to do so. It is our obligation to ourselves to do so. To do what? Vote!

According to Romulus City Clerk Linda Choate, this month's Mayoral Primary is Romulus's first since 1979, when Melvin Morgan, Harry Nelson, and William Oakley battled for the position of the City's chief magistrate. It will be the first mayoral primary encountered by Mayor Beverly McAnally, who faced Oakley in her first race for that office, and has run unopposed in the last two elections.

In the primary on September 12, McAnally will be up against two other candidates: Zenobia Jones and Earl Champagne. Though neither of them is as well known as McAnally, both could pose a serious threat to her in this election.

A key problem faced by incumbents in this type of race is voter apathy. This apathy often results because supporters of the incumbent feel that their candidate is a "shoo-in," and so don't bother to go to the polls. Since a low voter turnout often gives the opponent an advantage, incumbents must make an extra effort to convince their supporters to get out and vote. Remember: there is no such thing as a "sure bet" in an election, so it is important for you to support your candidate, no matter who he or she is, by casting your ballot.

I have seen "upsets" happen again and again in Romulus elections.

Why are Americans so lazy about voting? People around the world die by the thousands (remember the recent incident in China?) for the rights we take for granted.

It seems to me that only one type of election gets much voter response, and that's a millage election. The results of a millage election can have an immediate impact on voters in a place where they are very likely to be sensitive — their wallets. City, county, state, and even Federal elections don't get the same kind of turnout because their results tend to be felt more slowly, and so may not be as obvious and clear-cut.

The shame of it is that these other elections can end up costing voters more, in the long run, than a millage election. For instance, choosing inexperienced or unqualified leaders can result in excessive or wasteful spending, inadequate police and fire protection, inferior road and sewer maintenance, and, in the end, higher taxes.

Know your candidate. Then be sure to vote. These elections cost money (the upcoming primary, for instance, will cost no less than $8,000 to $10,000); let's make them more than a waste of your tax dollars.

If you are not yet registered to vote in Romulus, then you will not be eligible to vote in the Mayoral Primary, but you have until Monday, October 9, to register for November's General Election.

The Romulus News is not endorsing any particular candidate in these elections; instead, we are concentrating on getting all eligible voters out to the polls, no matter who they are supporting. This is your city, and you must decide which direction you want it to take. The only way you can influence that decision is by voting. No one is a "shoo-in"; make sure that you're not unpleasantly surprised this fall by casting your ballot.

Simply talking about it does not work. You must vote, vote, vote. ☐

Adult Ed Registration

More than ever before, good jobs require a high school diploma or GED certificate. In addition, employers are looking for graduates who have acquired job training skills.

Romulus Adult Education offers free classes leading to a diploma or GED certificate, as well as several programs that teach specific job skills. Grads who are under 20 years of age (as of September 1) also are eligible for free classes. Grads over 20 can take classes for very reasonable fees.

Adult high school classes begin September 18; registration continues through September 25. Day registration is held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily at the old South Junior High, 11401 Olive, and at the old Mt. Pleasant School, 39000

Superior Road. Evening registration takes place from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday at Romulus High School, 9650 South Wayne Road.

The Adult Education Center is moving from the old South Junior High School to Mt. Pleasant School, located at the corner of Hannan Road and Superior (½ mile south of the entrance to Huron Metro Park). Adult high school completion day classes also will be held at Mt. Pleasant School. This move will be completed by September 18.

Both day and evening classes are available, and free child care is offered to day students who are non-grads.

Students are encouraged to enroll early to make sure they get the classes they want. For more information, call 941-0610. ☐ crease to offer the Union over a period of time, and that was all he was going to offer. "If I give them one penny more, it could be the ruination of our school district," he said. "It would put us over a quarter-million dollars in deficit." He also stated that he had promised the public that, if they voted for the transfer of funds last year, he would not make any move that would jeopardize the school district.

How far this action will go is not yet certain; however, Superintendent Bedell has agreed to meet with the teachers and Union on Thursday, September 7, to see if some kind of long-range plan can be worked out.

In the meantime, if the teachers involved in extra-curricular activities do resign, it will mean a pay cut for some, since most of them receive extra money for their involvement. In fact, the additional pay ranges from $1,200 to $3,000 per year above their normal salaries.

"It is something that each teacher will have to deal with on an individual basis," said Bedell. "I think the strategy of their Union leadership is based on the assumption that we have money we are holding back. That simply is not true, and they will hurt their own membership." Bedell concluded by saying, "We've offered them everything we've got; there is no more."

Romulus is by no means the only district with financial woes in this state. One remedy that is being proposed for the skyrocketing problem of education funding is an increase in the State's sales tax.

On the local level, one option that our Board could pursue is the sale of bonds, which might help without increasing taxes substantially.

It is also believed that, somewhere down the road, there is a small chance that a millage increase will be proposed. Since industry pays about three dollars for every single dollar paid by residents, some people would prefer this solution.

In any event, a seven-percent raise in teacher salaries would result in an average increase of about $3,000 per teacher, and that doesn't seem too shabby to me. It's too bad that children must be used as pawns. □

Annual Arts & Crafts Fair

If you've got an eye for the beautiful and unique, you won't want to miss this year's Arts & Crafts Fair, which will be put on by the Romulus Arts Council on Saturday, September 16, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on the grassy area around the Romulus Public Library (11121 Wayne Road). In addition to traditional craft items like afghans, ceramics, and wood-craft pieces, you'll find hand puppets, wind chimes, porcelain dolls, mason-jar lamps, sand clowns, clothespin dolls, handmade pottery, decorated sweats, floral arrangements, Christmas items, and much, much more.

Besides craft items, this year's Fair will feature entertainment provided by a Dixieland band, a Romulus Flyers homemade baked goods sale, and concession food. Also, the Romulus Arts Council will be selling "Gold C" coupon books in an additional fund-raising effort. The books are only $8, and are full of great discounts for many Downriver establishments.

Over 30 crafters have already committed to the Fair, but there is still plenty of room for others interested in displaying their art or craft items for sale. Reasonable spaces are only $10. (Crafters must provide their own tables.) For an application, or for more information, please contact Gloria Chandler at 941-2678. □

Cops Keep Busy

by Dave Atkins
Pizza Man Robbed

Last weekend, a delivery man from a local pizza establishment was held up at the Wellesley Townhouses. Apparently, he was on his way back to his car after making one of his deliveries when he noticed two black males standing near the vehicle. When he asked if he could help them, he was told, "Give me your money," and then they struck him to the ground with an object believed to be a baseball bat or a club. After taking his money, the two men escaped in an unidentified car.

Man Holds Police at Bay for Two Hours

A Romulus resident held local police at bay with a bow and arrow for nearly two hours last week. According to Lieutenant Krause of the Romulus Police Department, the altercation began when the man (who was home on medical leave due to a job-related accident, and had been under a doctor's care) struck his newscarer (who had come to collect) with a cane. Then he went outdoors and started breaking windows out of the newscarer's car, and, at one point, he shot an arrow at someone; luckily, he missed.

Eventually, Officer Champagne was able to talk the man out of the house. Police say that his doctor has made arrangements for him to be hospitalized. Charges may or may not be filed. □

A Message from the Senior Class

by Mary E. Clark

Special thanks are due to Marilyn Masters and Jean Smith for contributing information to this issue's "Senior Class" news.

Happy Grandparents Day!

Sunday, September 10, is Grandparents Day, and I would like to send my best wishes to all Romulus seniors who are members of this "grand" group.

Towers News

Happy Birthday — Special birthday wishes go to the following Towers residents who were born during the month of September: Verdell Bailey, Bernice Bell, Alice Briggs, Jessie Crandall, Harvey DeRosier, Viola Dowis, Elsie Karbginsky, Vi McLean, Lucille Miller, Stella Randall, Bess Reeves, Muriel Smith, Mae Stafford, William Taylor, and Margaret Wilson.

This month's Birthday Potluck Dinner will be held September 14 at 5 p.m. in the Multi-Purpose Room. Tenants from the third and fourth floors will host the event.

Southland Shopping — Don't forget to sign up by Wednesday, September 6, if you would like to go on the SEMTA shopping trip to Southland Mall/Meijer on Monday, September 11. The departure time will be posted on the bulletin board.

Blood Pressure Readings — At 10 a.m. on Monday, September 11, Annapolis Hospital will take blood pressures in the Towers' card room. This is a free service for Towers residents.

Senior Swingers — Spend a pleasant afternoon on Tuesday, September 12, by coming down to enjoy entertainment provided by the "Senior Swingers." The time is 1:30 p.m., and light refreshments will be served.

Welcome! — On behalf of all of my neighbors at the Towers, I would like to extend a warm welcome to Barbara Clawson, who has just moved into #310. We hope that she'll enjoy living in our little community.

News from the Senior Center

Senior Bowling League — The Senior Citizens Bowling Season is about to begin, and more bowlers are needed. Come out and enjoy this fun sport. You don't have to be good to join!

For more information, call Marilyn at 942-6852.

Legal Aid — Legal aid will be available to seniors from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Senior Center at 46270 Ayres Street in Belleville on September 12. For further information, call 964-5310.

Looking for Work? — A Romulus company is looking for a senior citizen to do light office work twice a week from 3 to 9 p.m. Call 941-8778 to set up an appointment.

Happy Anniversary — Congratulations to Mel and Barbara Schultz, who will celebrate 25 years of marriage on September 25, 1989. Barbara is one of the faithful contributors to this column, and she is greatly appreciated.

Blood Pressure Readings — Monday, September 11, is the day for free blood pressure readings for Romulus seniors. Performing this service will be Rose, a registered nurse from Annapolis Hospital, and she'll be happy to see you from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Center.

Medicare Problems? — Medicare and other insurance information is available from a trained counselor each Tuesday from 12 to 2 p.m. at the Senior Center. There is no charge to seniors for this service. For an appointment, call 942-6852.

Care Management — Care Management is designed to help the frail, older person who wishes to remain at home. The goal is to help clients obtain services that would allow them to live as independently as possible, enabling them to avoid an unnecessary move to a nursing home. Call Sandy Anderson, SW, at 722-2830. Sandy is employed by The Senior Alliance. There is no charge for the Care Management service. □

It's Your Obligation — Vote Sept. 12

It's the Law

by Murray A. Duncan, Jr., Attorney

A second conviction, within seven years, for operating a motor vehicle under the influence of intoxicating liquor (OUIL) results in a mandatory one- to five-year license revocation issued by the Secretary of State. This revocation is in addition to any court-imposed suspension.

A third offense of operating a motor vehicle with ability impaired (OWI) results in a one- to five-year license revocation issued by the Secretary of State. This revocation is also separate from any court-imposed penalty.

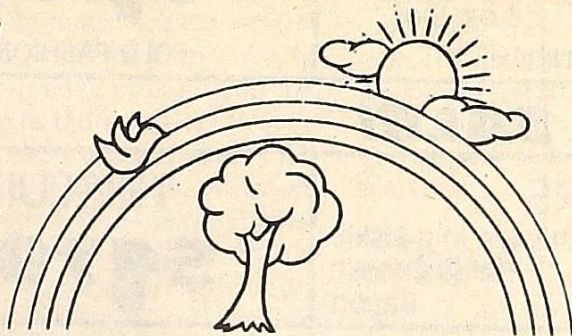

Any moving violation during a period of suspension or revocation results in a like additional suspension. For example, if a person gets a ticket when his or her license is suspended for one year, then that person will receive an additional one-year suspension from the Secretary of State.

Any person who receives 12 or more points on his or her driving record during a two-year period may receive up to a one-year suspension issued by the Secretary of State.

If you have a legal question that you would like answered, you may send your question to my office and I will attempt to answer it in a future issue. Questions should be mailed to: Murray A. Duncan, Jr., 10000 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174. □

From the A.D.

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

Like everything else in this world, the cost of running an athletic program is increasing. Because of those added costs, we instituted a new price list for our games last season, and I want to take this opportunity to go over it with our fans as the 1989-90 season begins.

Varsity Games and Tournaments

Adults — $3.00
Students — $2.00
Over 60 and Under 6 — Free

Junior Varsity Games

Adults — $2.00
Students — $1.00
Over 60 and Under 6 — Free

We also offer a $1 discount to anyone wearing a Romulus Pride Hat to any contest. (Hats can be purchased for $4 from me or at the gate of most games.)

Season tickets for adults can be purchased from my office for $20, and will be good for all of our home games in all sports this year. The pass is only good for the purchaser, and must be accompanied by I.D. This pass is an attempt to keep the cost down for our regular fans.

If you have any questions or concerns about tickets or ticket prices, please feel free to call me at 941-3414.

It looks like we are going to have an exciting fall season, and I sure hope you can find time to fit one or more of our games into your schedule.

Hope to see you cheering on our Varsity and Junior Varsity Eagles this year! □

Girls Basketball Season Begins

The Varsity Lady Eagles took on a very tough New Boston Huron team in their initial game, and walked away with a well-battled loss against the Chiefs.

First-year coach Tim Cullen is making adjustments in the program after its loss of 6'3" Laurie Berlinn to graduation last June.

"We need consistent play from someone at the point guard position, and we are going to do fine," Coach Cullen stated.

Looking good for the Eagles in their opener were juniors Kim Hopewell and Sue Molenda, while sophomore Carmita Brown also had an excellent game.

On Thursday, the Eagles will travel to Taylor Center for a tough game (the Rams return this season with the complete lineup that went to the Regionals Finals last year), and the match should be an interesting one.

Looking to help the Lady Eagles this week in the Taylor Tournament will be seniors Lynette Cain, Tracy Carter, Rochelle Hawk, and Tara Tyus. Also expected to see action are junior Angi Hopewell and senior Malaika Williams.

"We are a little inexperienced, and are going through the learning process of our new program. These girls are working hard, and we will definitely improve as the season goes on," Cullen concluded.

The next home game is Tuesday, September 12, against Ypsilanti Lincoln, with the junior varsity game beginning at 5:30 p.m. Hope to see you there! □

Community High Now at New Locale

As of September 1, the new quarters of the Romulus Alternative High School Completion Program, Community High, will be in the former Mt. Pleasant Elementary School. Mr. Harold Connon, formerly Principal of Hayti Elementary, has been appointed Principal for the current year, the first for which there has been a full-time administrator for the school. Connon has worked on a supplemental basis with the program (formerly called Enterprise High) since its inception in January of 1987.

Other changes being implemented will be the establishment of a six-hour day, which will enable students to earn an additional half credit per semester, and an earlier starting time (school hours will be from 3 to 9 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays). Also, child care will be available to Community High students this year. Ms. Kathy Darnell of the My Friends and Me Child Care Center will be offering baby-sitting for children one to five years of age whose parents are attending classes at Community High.

Connon predicts that this year will be the first in which students may have to be turned away. Since Community High will be sharing the Mt. Pleasant facilities with Adult Education, Special Education, the My Friends and Me Child Care Center, and a computer training program, there is little to no room to expand the 36 courses currently being offered, and Mike Birmingham and Al Wilkerson have enrolled about 75% of the program's capacity so far. Already, half of the courses are closed, and many others are close to their capacity of 20 students. "One of our assets is a close, caring, student-teacher relationship, which we will not jeopardize by increasing our class size," explained Connon.

Students between the ages of 16 and 21 who wish to return to school to complete their high-school education should contact Principal Connon at 941-0610 to ensure their placement in classes for the 1989-90 school year, which begins Monday, September 11, 1989. □

Eagles Football "Kicks Off" with Victory

The 1989 football season began Friday with one of the most interesting games in recent history for the Eagles.

The victory over Taylor Truman began the new coaching career of Dan Henry on a very positive note.

"These kids have been working very hard since last April getting ready for this game. They not only deserved this victory, but they truly earned it with hard work," stated Henry.

This year's Varsity Eagle team is being led at quarterback by senior Chris Jones, and Chris had an excellent first game against Truman. He completed 10 of 15 passes, and hit Virgil Davis for a four-yard touchdown pass with six minutes remaining in the game to put the Eagles ahead to stay.

"Chris has worked real hard to earn his starting position at quarterback, but he still has a lot to learn before we get into our League schedule," Henry added. "He had a very good game against Truman, and we sure hope he continues to improve."

Adding to Chris's performance were some excellent catches by senior ends

Fitness, Bikes, and Balloons

For the past few months, I've been on a physical fitness kick that, more often than not, kicks back. You see, folks, long ago and far, far away, I used to run daily, but my constantly jarred kidneys finally said, "Enough!" to that stuff. Lately, I've considered walking, but so many people are walking now that, undoubtedly, the "experts" will soon be telling us that walking is hazardous to our health. Anyway, for me, walking, no matter how fast, doesn't give me that good physical and mental afterglow we've come to refer to as a natural high... endorphins and all that.

My mother and sister are walkers, or at least so they say. I've never actually seen them walk, except to and from the car on their journeys to walk-land. Then, they're gone so long that I'm beginning to wonder if they're actually cruising around eating Dove Bars or, more likely, catching a movie somewhere. I've been trying to find one of those new popcorn breathalyzer tests, just to check out my theory.

Anyway, I really don't have enough time to walk, and my kidneys still threaten a wildcat strike if I run, so I ride my bike. Well, actually, it's my sister's bike, but no matter; lavender and pink has always been one of my favorite color combinations.

When I first began biking, my legs felt like pillars of Silly Putty. I'm sure that, had I crawled off the bike and started walking during those early times, the police would have tucked me into the back of a squad car, convinced that they had latched onto a drunken walker. After a few months, though, my legs are taking all this much better, although they still start twitching whenever I begin stretching them before a ride. They'll settle down a few blocks away, but it's a weird feeling as I'm starting out, having one foot, then the other, involuntarily jumping off the pedals.

Being somewhat of a creature of habit, I mostly follow the same route when I bike. But hey, folks, I am a serious biker, and dedication like this calls for rigidity and repetition. After all, I can't let something like riding to different places, and having more fun, come between me and my fitness, right? However, in spite of my earnest intentions, most people that I pass on my rides will grin, pretend to cough, and finally turn their heads — or they just, out and out, start laughing. After giving this some darn deep thought, I suspect that it's not so much me they're laughing at; instead, it's my bike.

First of all, as I mentioned, it's a lavender and pink girl's bike. Secondly, I've attached a mini-seat on the rear fender for my little guy, Joe — but, of course, Joe's never with me on these big-time rides. It's not that I haven't asked him, but, whenever I do, Joe takes a long look at the bike, then says something like, "Daddy, I want to watch TV."

So, there I am, like a cab without a fare, pumping pedals I can barely reach, with my back arched down like an awakening cat so I can wrap my hands around the low handlebars. (Folks, I was never very good at bike adjustments as a kid and, alas, I guess it's one of those permanent defects of life.) Recently, with barely a smidgen of a grin, my sister suggested that, perhaps, if I removed the balloons attached to my wheels (I really love it when my bike sounds like it has a motor), I might command a bit more respect from my neighbors. Well, I doubt it, but I'll probably try it, just to sneak in a little, "Ha! I told you so!" on her.

When thinking biking thoughts, my mind, sooner or later, gently nudges me back to when I was a second grader, and my parents bought my first two-wheeler. Remembering, I can picture myself struggling to keep my balance while my dad ran alongside, holding on to the seat until he was sure I was going to make it. Of course, it took a few times, but, when I finally caught on and sailed away from, and then back to, my dad, we were both laughing, exploding with pride. Although my dad died nine years ago, I'll bet he still thinks about that day from time to time. I know I sure do. □

Twins!

Jessica and Jennifer Dick

Ronald and Debbie Dick are proud to announce the arrival of the two newest members of their family, Jessica Rae and Jennifer Renee Dick. Jessica and Jennifer were born at Annapolis Hospital on July 24, and arrived at 9:36 a.m. and 9:38 a.m., respectively.

The Ronald Dick family has lived in Romulus for 10 years. Ronald is a program scheduler at Kelsey-Hayes;

Debbie is employed by the City of Romulus as Recreation Director.

Jessica and Jennifer have a big sister and brother to love them and help take care of them. They are Michele, age 12, and Sean, age 10. Also welcoming the girls into the family are their grandparents, Francis Dick of Taylor, Claude and Beverly Cox of Inkster, and Gene Wilcox of Wayne. □

EAGLES "KICK OFF" WITH VICTORY

Virgil Davis and Tim Kosikowski, as well as excellent running by junior tailback Eben Smith (92 yards) and senior fullback Eric Robinson (48 yards).

The line play of Guam Lee and Martin Lewis, both on offense and defense, was essential in this victory.

"Martin Lewis played every play in this game," said Assistant Coach Dale Evans, "and, against a very big physical team like Taylor Truman, that was not an easy task to accomplish."

Eben Smith and Eric Robinson led the defense with 13 and 12 tackles, respectively, and Damond Adams, Tony Callockio, Tim Kosikowski, and Guam Lee also had excellent games for the Eagle defense.

"The kicking game may have won this game for us," said Henry, "with Chris Jones having two punts over 40 yards to pin Truman back by their goal line, and Nick Kristiansen kicking two field goals from 25 and 22 yards."

Also impressed by the kicking game was Athletic Director Fred Coleman. "I have been watching Romulus football for 23 years, and I can't remember a Romulus team kicking two field goals in the same game," he stated. "I was really pleased to see Nick (our foreign exchange student from Norway) have a good game. It looked like he had a good time in his first-ever football game, and his teammates have really done a lot to make him feel welcome and comfortable in Romulus."

Coach Henry added, "You know, he hasn't even started school in Romulus yet, and the kids and community know who he is. I have a feeling that Romulus is going to be a place he won't forget, and our football fans are sure not going to forget him by the end of this season, either."

The Eagles' 19-14 victory over Taylor Truman kicks off what is sure to be a fun-filled, exciting season, and the team's fans can see the Eagles shoot for victory number two in their next home game, which will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Friday against Garden City. The following week, the Eagles will travel to Adrian to begin their League schedule.

Be sure to make plans to attend these games — you definitely will not be disappointed. □

Embryo Custody Case Prompts Study

The prospect of divorced couples fighting over fertilized human eggs has prompted lawmakers to call for State legislation to resolve such disputes. Lawmakers plan to gather testimony from medical and legal experts this fall and draft legislative guidelines for embryo custody disputes.

Legislation Would Help Prevent Crank Calls

This fall, House lawmakers will consider legislation that would permit Michigan telephone companies to offer customers a system that allows them to see the number of a caller's phone before they answer. The caller-identification system has been implemented in New Jersey, where it is successfully stopping harassing callers.

Survey Shows Health Programs Are Working

Results of a survey of Michigan women indicated that they are receiving more prenatal care than they did three years ago, and that programs implemented by the State are working effectively. The survey indicates that women at all income levels are entering prenatal care programs earlier.

Environmental Bond Authorization Is Signed into Law

Legislation authorizing $81.5 million in spending of the $800 million in bonds approved by voters last year has been signed into law. Among other provisions, the bill authorizes $25 million to clean 64 toxic waste sites, $20 million to improve 43 State parks, $2.8 million to close seven unlicensed dumps, and $8.2 million to develop a loan fund for communities in need of financing for sewage treatment problems.

Auto Insurance Hearings Begin

The first of several auto insurance reform hearings were held recently in Michigan. House lawmakers are considering a package of bills that include some provisions similar to California's recently passed Proposition 103, which drastically reduced insurance rates in that state. The proposed Michigan legislation would roll back insurance rates Statewide by at least 20% of the May, 1988, levels.

Michigan Arts Grants Awarded

Nearly 450 arts organizations, artists, schools, and nonprofit support groups will share $11,342,464 in State grants to finance projects and promote the arts in Michigan. The Michigan Council for the Arts funds help finance art programs in Michigan schools and support the work of creative artists, arts councils, and institutions.

Legislation Lowers On-the-job Injury Costs

Recent figures show that the State of Michigan's workers' compensation costs were near or below the National average in 1986, the latest year for which state-by-state figures were available. Three sets of legislative reforms approved within the last nine years appear to have held down workers' compensation costs for Michigan companies, reducing an often-cited disincentive to do business in this state.

State to Pay for Some AIDS Patients' Insurance

Under a new program, the State will pay the health insurance premiums of some AIDS patients who would lose their existing coverage when they are no longer able to work. The two-year pilot program will begin October 1 in three urban counties, where 70% of Michigan's AIDS patients live. The experiment could save millions of dollars for the Government-funded Medicaid program by shifting more of the AIDS-related treatment costs to insurance companies.

Michigan Highway Name Would Honor Veterans

This fall, House lawmakers will consider legislation that would name a portion of a southeastern Michigan highway "Vietnam Veterans Memorial Highway." Proponents of the measure say that the specially designated highway would serve as an active, working memorial that will be used daily by many motorists.

Used-Book Sale

The Friends of the Romulus Library will be holding their Fall Used-Book Sale in the Library (11121 Wayne Road) on Saturday, September 16, from 12 to 5 p.m.; Monday, September 18, from 12 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday, September 19, from 12 to 8 p.m.; and Wednesday, September 20, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Please note that the first day of the Book Sale is also the day of the Romulus Arts Council Arts & Crafts Fair, which will be held on the grassy area outside the Library.

If you have any books (either hardback or paperback, in good condition) that you would like to donate for the sale, the Friends would be happy to have them. Donated books can be dropped at the Library during its regular operating hours.

All proceeds benefit the Library.

For more information, please call Gloria Chandler, 941-2678. □

Avoiding Hectic School Mornings

After a summer of lazy days at the pool or beach, you and the kids may be less than enthusiastic about the hectic pace that arrives when school doors reopen. "Back to school" often means a return to "rush hour" bathroom and breakfast schedules, wild hunts for misplaced homework, and mad dashes to the school bus stop.

If school mornings mean mayhem at your home, it might be wise to do a little planning. To prepare a schedule that will make things less frantic, try these tips:

- You (or your children, if they're old enough to help) can prepare school lunches or set out lunch money the night before.
- Homework should be done (and checked) before children go to sleep. Provide a quiet place for this task. Rubbermaid's portable desk (a lap-type desk) provides a large writing surface with space beneath for storing papers.
- Two compartments on top snap open to store pens, pencils, crayons, erasers, and sharpeners. This type of organizer can be especially helpful since it allows a child to take his work anywhere.
- Also, look for a Portable Clipboard which has a smooth writing surface and storage space inside — great for taking notes on field trips or for writing anywhere. It has a clip on the front to hold papers, and holds a pencil there, too.

- If kids often misplace pencils, pens, and scissors at home or school, gather these items into one container. A new, durable FunFunctionals™ School Box comes in bright colors. It opens and closes securely with a snap to hold all the "school stuff" kids so often need.

To keep lost items to a minimum, you may want to equip two School Boxes for your child — one for at-home use, and the other for a locker or desk at school.

- Make sure children lay out clothes and books or supplies they'll need before bedtime. Moms may select clothes without the child's participation, only to find (usually five minutes before it's time to go out the door) that Junior refuses to wear the pants so carefully pressed for him the night before.

Naturally, even with the most organized schedule and the best plans, there can be those awful mornings when the whole family is running late. But with a good routine, school days can run more smoothly and successfully for everyone. □
